The Rangelands Partnership (RP) is a collective effort involving rangeland specialists, IT experts, and academic librarians from 19 U.S. land-grant universities.

Through numerous projects and initiatives, the RP has developed the Rangelands Gateway, a website featuring a database of rangeland resources and tools and 11 collections of rangeland content.

The Rangelands Gateway offers resources and expertise needed to inform public debate and decision-making regarding today’s grand challenges of food security, climate adaptation, public health, environmental impacts, and economic development as they relate to rangelands around the world.